

Department of Persian
University of Delhi
Delhi-110007

Wednesday Seminars

The department of Persian holds a weekly seminar on every Wednesday of the academic sessions. In this seminar participation of every member of the department is mandatory. Apart from research papers presented by research scholars and teachers of the department, PG students too are encouraged to present their skills related to Persian language and literature in this seminar. The medium of this seminar is only Persian. By organizing this seminar we try to create an environment of Persian language speaking and the culture related to it.

